

Nelson Vaquinhas

Head of the Archives and Documentation Division at the Municipality of Loulé and integrated member of CIDEHUS-UÉ, in the Heritage, Literacy and Cultural Diversity research group. Possesses a degree in History from the University of Évora, with a postgraduate degree in Documental Sciences (Archive branch) from the University of Algarve. Has a Master's in Archives, Libraries and Information Science, from the University of Évora. Concluded a PhD in Information and Documentation Sciences from the same University, having been awarded an Individual Doctoral Scholarship by FCT. In 2018, he defended the thesis “A Mesa da Consciência e Ordens o tenha assim entendido: o sistema de informação das Ordens Militares no século XVIII.”

In 2017, he received an honourable mention in the António Rosa Mendes National Historical Essay Award and in 2022, he was distinguished by the Portuguese Academy of History with the CTT-Correios de Portugal, S.A. - D. Manuel I, prize.

His research interests focus on the study of past information systems, institutional history, Inquisition and Military Orders and local history.

Author of the books “Da comunicação ao sistema de informação: o Santo Ofício e o Algarve (1700-1750)”, published by CIDEHUS/UÉ and Colibri, in 2010; “Retirar-se do Século e abraçar a Vida Religiosa. Os inquéritos e os inventários do Convento do Espírito Santo de Loulé”, edited by the Municipality of Loulé, in 2015; “Mesa da Consciência e Ordens Militares: o Sistema de Informação (século XVIII)”, edited by Colibri, in 2021.

More info:

<https://www.cienciavitae.pt/portal/3817-6C86-D9AA>